CEO Speak ...

Dear Shareholder,

The major focus at Sahara Housing Finance Corporation Limited (SHCL) continues to be the provision for home loans to individuals and families for purchase, construction, extension, repair and renovation etc. of houses. The Company in its efforts to pursue this mission has developed loan products to cater to different types of customers including families in the self-employed category, where formal proof of income are neither easily available nor established.

During the year ended March 31, 2014, the Company recorded gross total income of ₹ 2110.85 lacs, Profit Before Tax (PBT) of ₹ 354.84 lacs, and Profit After Tax (PAT) of ₹ 264.10 lacs. The Net Owned Fund (NOF) & Assets under Management (AUM) balance of the Company as on March 31, 2014 stood at ₹ 3203.12 lacs and ₹ 16301.40 lacs respectively. Earnings Per Share (EPS) as on that date was ₹ 3.77. The Company disbursed loans aggregating to ₹ 3893.57 lacs, and the outstanding loan portfolio as at March 31, 2014 stood at ₹ 16301.40 lacs as against ₹ 15729.89 lacs in the previous year March 31, 2013.

In terms of Company's performance in the industry, there is clearly still a long way to go before the company can be said to be fulfilling its potential. The concerns for the industry, among others, are steep rise in the prices of real estate in recent years, which has the potential to exclude a large segment of the society as they get priced out, rising inflation, rapid pace of urbanisation, ever widening gap between demand and supply of housing, lower interest spreads due to increase in cost of funding and competitive rates on housing loans due to stiff competition from scheduled commercial banks. Housing policies are needed to create frameworks for efficient and effective shelter delivery systems, increasing supply of affordable housing through ownership, rental and other tenure options, responding to the diversity of need across different segments of the population and households in rural and urban areas. Housing policies are also needed to facilitate provision of accessible housing belonging to the disadvantaged and vulnerable groups lying on the marginal edges of the society.

The Company's major challenge continues to be resource mobilisation for generating new business and other common challenges facing the Industry like managing higher cost of funds, maturity mismatches (asset-liability mismatches), containing non-performing assets (NPAs), rising interest rates, thinning profit margins and fierce competition.

The demand for housing finance will continue to grow in view of the demand-supply gap, increasing urbanisation and better growth prospects. As per Report on Trend and Progress of Housing in India 2013 - NHB, the share of Housing Finance Companies' (HFCs) in the total housing loan portfolio in the country have increased from 44 per cent in 2011-12 to 46 per cent in 2012-2013. The challenge, therefore, is expansion of housing finance to a wider section of the population with the necessary safeguards to preserve financial stability.

The trust and confidence of our valued customers, investors, support of lending institutions and the apex regulator, National Housing Bank (NHB), the Company will surely be able to establish itself as a prominent player in the Housing Finance sector in India.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS REPORT

GLOBAL ECONOMIC PERSPECTIVE

The global economy is expected to pick up speed as the year progresses and is projected to expand by 2.8 percent this year, strengthening to 3.4 and 3.5 percent in 2015 and 2016, respectively. High-income economies will contribute about half of global growth in 2015 and 2016, compared with less than 40 percent in 2013. Developing countries are headed for a third consecutive year of disappointing growth below 5 percent, as first quarter weakness in 2014 has delayed an expected pick-up in economic activity, says the World Bank's latest Global Economic Prospects report, issued on June 10, 2014. The financial health of economies has improved. With the exception of China and Russia, stock markets have done well in emerging economies, notably, India and Indonesia. A gradual tightening of fiscal policy and structural reforms are desirable to restore fiscal space depleted by the 2008 financial crisis.

OVERVIEW OF THE INDIAN ECONOMY

In 2014-15, the Indian economy is poised to overcome the sub-five (5) per cent growth of gross domestic product (GDP) witnessed over the last two years. The growth slowdown in the last two years was broad based, affecting in particular the industrial sector. Inflation too declined during this period, but continued to be above the comfort zone, owing primarily to the elevated level of food inflation. Yet, the developments on the macro stabilization front, particularly the dramatic improvement in the external economic situation with the current account deficit (CAD) declining to manageable levels after two years of worryingly high levels was the redeeming feature of 2013-14. The fiscal deficit of the Centre as a proportion of GDP also declined for the second year in a row as per the announced medium term policy stance. Reflecting the above and the expectations of a change for the better, financial markets have surged. Moderation in inflation would help ease the monetary policy stance and revive the confidence of investors, and with the global economy expected to recover moderately, particularly on account of performance in some advanced economies, the economy can look forward to better growth prospects in 2014-15 and beyond.

IMPORTANCE OF HOUSING AND HOUSING SHORTAGE

Housing is a basic human need like food and clothing. Housing has been termed as the 'Engine for Growth for the Economy'. Housing has a direct impact on employment and income generation. It has various backward and forward linkages and is linked to a host of industries and vocations. Further, a dwelling is defined as a holding space, a physical and psychological envelope within which every individual can find an opportunity to be himself, along with the family. Investments in the housing sector, across the entire spectrum from luxury housing to low income housing, contributes to economic growth. This has been demonstrated across the world in developed as well as developing economies.

The house-building industry is a major employer with strong and large multiplier effects. Further, housing is increasingly seen to have social consequences and diverse economic effects.

The housing industry is one of the largest employment generator in India, only second to agriculture. The housing sector is ranked 4th as per multiplier effect in terms of income generation ahead of agriculture and transport. The housing and real estate industry ranks 3rd amongst 14 major industries in terms of its linkage effect.

Mortgage lending has significantly contributed to the growth in housing production (construction) and housing consumption activities. Outstanding Mortgage debt in the country accounts for nearly 9 per cent of India's GDP. A host of vocations and professions directly or indirectly derive their livelihoods from housing which includes construction workers, builders, developers, suppliers, civil engineers, valuers, property consultants, furnishes, interior decorators, and plumbers – a virtually unending list.

Further, indirect impact of housing is in terms of improved habitat, living, educational, social and cultural standards leading to human capital formation which together result in improved quality of life and thereby the future earning capabilities. Housing as an asset provides an important source of income for livelihoods of all members of the households. The house value is an important collateral for contracting other loans, that improve the earning and repayment capacity of the borrower. All these together lead to improved productivity further leading to enhanced income, and saving and repayment potentials on sustainable lines.

The technical group on housing shortage has estimated the housing shortage in urban India at 18.78 million units with 95 per cent of the shortage of housing in the EVS /LIG segments in 2012. The Working Group on Rural Housing for the Twelfth Five Year Plan (2012-17), has estimated the total housing shortage in rural areas at 43.9 million units out of which more than 90 per cent of the shortage of housing lies with the lower income and marginalised groups. Hence, the need for low cost, safe and affordable housing, on "project mode" for mass / cluster housing will need to be considered for making a significant difference in the present condition. An appropriate successful model can be replicated on a large scale to cater to the underserved and unserved segments, which can lead to inclusive housing and contribute to inclusive growth.

THE INDIAN HOUSING FINANCE MARKET

The housing finance market in India is growing fast and is served by multiplicity of institutions across the vast geographical and income spread. Banks and housing finance institutions are the dominant players offering mostly plain vanilla amortization home loans with relatively short maturities at predominantly floating rates.

Over the last 25 years, there has been a veritable revolution in housing finance in India and especially in the last one and half decade. This is demonstrated by the housing finance statistics that captures the magnitude of change from the year 2000 onwards. The outstanding housing loans of the HFCs were ₹ 25,326.01 crore as on 31st March 2000, and that of the SCBs were ₹ 18,524.88 crore i.e. a total of ₹ 43,850.89 crore between these two major sets of institutions. The same has exponentially grown to ₹ 2,85,711 crore and ₹ 4,62,200 crore for HFCs and SCBs respectively with the total at ₹ 7,47,911 crore as on 31st March 2013 which means a growth of 1605.58 per cent.

Access to housing finance has thus considerably widened. Housing loans are available at all the metropolitan, urban and semi-rural branches of banks and in almost all branches of housing finance companies. The number of housing finance institutions registered with NHB has grown from an almost negligible number in the early nineties to 57 currently. These intermediaries are spread across the country and are quite diverse in their housing finance activities. However, more than 80 per cent of the low income groups and economically weaker sections in urban areas do not have access to institutional finance. This can be attributed to the low income levels, lack of collateral and proper title deeds, combined with informal sector employment of these people. (Source: Report on Trend and Progress of Housing in India 2013- NHB).

INSTITUTIONS PROVIDING HOUSING FINANCE

A number of institutions have evolved providing a variety of service in the housing finance sector. As on today, the need for finance for housing in the country is catered to by the following types of institutions:

- Financial Institutions(FIs)
- Scheduled Commercial Banks (SCBs)
- Scheduled Co-operative Banks (Scheduled State Co-operative Banks, Scheduled District Co-op Banks and Urban Co-op Banks)
- Regional Rural Banks
- Agriculture and Rural Development Banks
- Housing Finance Companies, and
- State Level Apex Co-operative Housing Finance Societies
- NBFCS/MFIs/SHGs have also been lending for housing though in a small way.

The Indian mortgage market is expected to grow at around 19 per cent in the next five years owing to enabling factors such as stable operating environment, buoyant property prices, etc. The scheduled commercial banks hold more than 70 per cent of the share in the housing finance market. However, the share of HFCs is also growing and is indicative of the strength of their focused approach, targeting of special customer segments, relatively superior customer service, and significant growth plans. (Source: Report on Trend and Progress of Housing in India 2013- NHB).

HOUSING FINANCE COMPANIES

The key success factors

The key factors for HFCs to succeed in the Indian housing finance industry include:

- Cost of funds
- Strong credit function
- Cost of operations

- Product features
- Brand recognition

Opportunities and Threats

Housing finance in India is growing rapidly. With the intervention of the banking sector and the emergence of more specialized financial institutions, the sector is attracting a wide range of customers ranging from individuals to corporations to groups. The composition of funds for the housing sector - a mix of short and medium-term funds, is a concern. Measures are being considered for channelling long-term pension and provident funds as well as external funds into the housing sector. A securitization market has also begun to operate, as a measure for better matching of assets and liabilities. The Government of India, Reserve Bank of India and the National Housing Bank have attached priority to the housing finance sector and continue their support to the sector through fiscal and regulatory measures. The burgeoning middle class, their increasing purchasing power, the changing demographics, and the increasing number of nuclear families coupled with a low delinquency rate have resulted in a low number of non-performing assets compared to other sectors. Further, this has enabled the sector to grow at a phenomenal rate and attracting many institutional players representing high volume.

The property prices have seen upward movement and the expected rise in interest rates due to inflationary pressures could impact the affordability of the average home loan borrower to a great extent. Nevertheless the housing finance sector is expected to continue to grow steadily backed by the continuing demand and supply gap in dwelling units, reducing age profile of borrowers, higher income levels, increasing proportion of double income households and easy and wider choice of financing options.

Housing being one of the low risk asset classes for financiers and hence scheduled commercial banks has become very aggressive in this segment, which are armed with well established vast network and accessibility to funds at relatively lower costs. The concern for the "stand alone housing finance Companies" will be the continuous availability of funds at a longer tenor with affordable rates. Reserve Bank of India has mandated the Banks to switch over to the system of "Base Rate", which is a welcome measure, will enhance transparency in lending rates, however may result in increase in cost of funds for the Housing Finance Industry. However still there is ample scope for the "Housing Finance Industry" to grow, due to huge demand and supply gap existing in housing segment and the consequent need for funding of purchases of shelter across all segments of the population.

Risks and Concerns

One general feature observed in many of the housing finance companies is lowering of interest spreads due to increase in cost of funding and competitive rates to be offered on housing loans due to stiff competition from scheduled commercial banks. Upward trend witnessed in property prices and the expected rise in interest rates will impact the affordability of vast number of end users.

Risk Management

Risks include credit risk, liquidity risk, and interest rate risk, operational risk market risk. The credit risks are minimized by having established credit appraisal system in place, prescribing exposure limits, periodic review of the portfolio. The Company operates in the mid segment and a substantial majority of borrowers are in the salary group. The Company has EXPERIAN checks, field verification, stringent legal and technical due diligence etc. which have helped to reduce incremental delinquencies. The operational risks are minimized by strengthening the internal control procedures and addressing the deficiencies reported by the internal auditors. Liquidity risk and interest rate risk arising out of maturity mismatch of assets and liabilities are managed through regular monitoring of the maturity profiles, and yield management by way of risk, return, and portfolio management. The company proposes to manage the increased risk through available methods of portfolio churning by the RMBS/loan asset sale/assignment route as well as rate SWAP arrangements when probable with Banks/Institutions.

Risk Management Committee

The Company has formed an Asset Liability Committee (ALCO) which meets at periodic interval to review its approvals and controls to the various risks faced. The ALCO reviews the process of implementation of various risk management techniques, system policies, procedure and evaluates as well as advises for changes required in relation to the business environment.

28. Disclosures in observance to the advice of National Housing Bank (NHB)

- During the Financial Year 2011-12, reportedly due to oversight, the company could not comply in its entirety with the new amended provisions of the Housing Finance Company (NHB) Directions, 2010 having regards to assets classification, provisioning and assignment of risks weight, thus leading to overstatement of Net Owned Fund (NOF) and Capital Adequacy Ratio (CAR), which incidentally, even-after consideration of the new amended provision would have been sufficiently higher than the permissible benchmark level of the regulatory requirement of 12%. The amended provisions were subsequently corrected and considered during the previous financial year, i.e. 2012-13.
- During the supervisory inspection relating to financial year ended March 2013; it was observed that the company did not restrict the discounted value of subordinated debt in Tier-II Capital to 50% of its Tier-I Capital leading to stating of an higher Capital Adequacy Ratio (CAR). Pursuant to its notification by NHB, the company corrected and complied with the direction of National Housing Bank in the successive return.

- The classification of special reserve in terms of section 36(1)(viii) of the Income Tax Act, 1961, could not be made under reserve fund under section 29C of the National Housing Bank Act, 1987. However, in the current year under review, the company has complied with the classification, in line with circular no: NHB (ND)DRS/Pol. Circular 61/2013-14 dated April 7, 2014.
- The company paid a levy of ₹ 1000/- as penalty for late submission of reply of the supervisory letter dated May 22, 2013.
